

the publication of the revised list by the president of the convention as hereinafter required; if any of the persons upon said lists have not the qualifications prescribed by this sub-title of this article, or upon complaint made in writing, specifying the reasons of objection, are decided by said board to be improper persons for the performance of such duties, said board shall notify the ward delegation of such objections and request them to name other persons in their stead; and if said ward delegations shall neglect or refuse to send in other names, then the said board shall have power to appoint proper and duly qualified persons in their place and stead; and said board shall also have power to appoint judges and clerks and fix the polling-place for any ward whose delegation fails to send the list of judges, clerks and polling-place at the time hereinbefore required; and in no other case shall said board have power to make any such appointments; the said board shall furnish to the president of such managing convention a complete list of the judges, clerks and polling-places, which shall be published by said president under his hand, once in one or more papers published in said city at least three days before the election for which the selections are made; no person shall act as judge or clerk of any primary election held under this sub-title of this article, who shall have violated his party obligations; and no delegates to any city convention shall have a voice in selecting judges or clerks who have violated their party obligations; and the city convention of any party shall provide by resolution what shall be considered a violation of party obligations.

279. Every person selected as judge or clerk of elections shall make oath or affirm before some officer authorized to administer oaths in said city, that he will faithfully perform all the duties to be performed by him as judge or clerk, so as to secure to the best of his ability a fair election and a fair statement of the result of said election.

Ibid.

280. If at the place appointed for holding any such election, and when ten minutes after the time fixed for beginning the same have expired, any one or more of the judges so elected shall
