

1878, ch. 120.

327. The mayor and city council of Baltimore are authorized to provide for the inspection of oils or fluids made from petroleum or its products, used for illuminating purposes, offered for sale in the city of Baltimore, and for the appointment of inspectors for that purpose.

Ibid.

328. The mayor and city council shall have full authority to pass all ordinances necessary to carry into effect the powers granted by the preceding section, and to impose by said ordinances such fines and penalties as they may deem necessary and proper for the enforcement thereof.

1874, ch. 504.

329. All oils or fluids manufactured from petroleum or its products, used for illuminating purposes in this State, which shall be manufactured or kept for sale therein, shall be required to stand a fire test of one hundred and ten degrees Fahrenheit before it shall burn, to be ascertained by Tagliabue's coal oil tester, or some other instrument constructed upon the same principle.

Ibid.

330. Every person manufacturing or selling illuminating oils or fluids, manufactured from petroleum or its products, by the barrel, shall be required to have stamped upon the head of the barrel the name of the manufacturer thereof and his place of business, together with the words "warranted to stand a fire-test of one hundred and ten degrees Fahrenheit before it shall burn."

Ibid.

331. Whoever manufactures for illuminating purposes, or sells in quantities not less than a barrel, oils or fluids made from petroleum or its products, which does not sustain the fire-test provided for in section 329, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisoned in the jail or penitentiary not more than two years, in the discretion of the court. Whoever sells in quantities less than a barrel, for illuminating purposes, oils or fluids made from petroleum or its products, which does not sustain the fire-test provided for in section 329, shall
