

PARKS—PARK COMMISSION.

1862, ch. 29.

705. The resolution of the mayor and city council of Baltimore, appointing a commission in relation to the proposed public parks, approved June 4, 1860, and an ordinance of the said mayor and city council to provide for a public park or parks, approved July 21, 1860, are confirmed, and all acts done or which may be hereafter done by the said mayor and city council, or other officer of said city, or by the park commission acting under the provisions of said resolution and ordinance, shall have the same effect as if the said mayor and city council, prior to the passage of the said resolution and ordinance, had been expressly empowered by an act of the general assembly to enact a resolution and ordinance in the precise terms of the said resolution and ordinance, and to provide for carrying the same into effect.

Ibid.

706. The park commission, for the time being, appointed under the provisions of said resolution and ordinance, or any resolution or ordinance supplementary thereto, shall have power, from time to time, to make such rules and regulations for the government and the preservation of order within the said parks, as they may deem expedient, declaring what fines, not exceeding in any one case one hundred dollars, shall be imposed for breaches of said rules and regulations, to be recoverable in the name of the mayor and city council of Baltimore as small debts are recoverable before a justice of the peace of the said city, and appropriated to the purposes of said park.

1876, ch. 40.

707. The park commission are authorized and empowered to regulate the speed of vehicles and equestrians on the approaches to Druid Hill park from North avenue as they are empowered to do within the limits of said park, and to impose the same penalties for the violation of any regulation they may establish in this connection.
