

1888, ch. 150.

751. The duties of the said physicians shall be to examine thoroughly all applicants for position in the police force of Baltimore city, and to test their entire fitness in every respect for such position; to visit all policemen, turnkeys, detectives, officers of police and clerks of said force, who may be returned as sick, and to report their condition to the said board; to visit and professionally attend any and all of the said persons who may be injured or disabled in the performance of their duties as members of the said force; to thoroughly examine and report to the said board the physical condition of each and every member of said force who may, upon his own application, or who the said board may think should be retired from the said force and be pensioned under this sub-title of this article, and to perform all such other and further professional duties in connection with the said department and force as the said board may from time to time deem necessary and prescribe for them.

Ibid.

752. The annual salary of each of the said physicians shall be the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars, payable in equal monthly instalments, but the tenure of office of the said physicians, and of each of them, shall be determinable within the appointed year, by a majority of the said board, and in their exclusive discretion; and the said physicians, and each of them, shall be compensated only up to the time of such determination at the rate of the annual salary aforesaid.

RACES.

1872, ch. 55.

753. For the purpose of preserving order and protecting property, the police commissioners of the city of Baltimore are authorized, upon the request of the president of the Maryland jockey club, to detail such force as they may deem sufficient for the preservation of order during any exhibition of the said club, which detailed force shall have the power that the police of the city have as conservators of the peace.
