

from the year eighteen hundred and eighty, to appoint one person, a resident of said county and qualified voter therein, to be known as general supervisor of roads, whose duty it shall be to take charge of the public roads and bridges of said county, and superintend the building and repairs of all such public roads and bridges, subject to the control and supervision of said commissioners in all respects; and said commissioners shall have full power to make rules and regulations fixing and determining the duties of said supervisor and the manner of performing the same; and said supervisor shall hold office for the term of two years from the date of his appointment, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, subject to be removed by a vote of a majority of said commissioners at any time, in which case they shall immediately elect a successor to said supervisor to perform the duties of said office for the unexpired term of the one so removed.

1880, ch 286

212. Said commissioners shall have power to fix the compensation of said supervisor, and to require from him a bond conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties, in such penalty as they may deem proper; provided, that he shall be paid only for such time as he shall be actually engaged in the performance of his duties, and that his compensation shall not in any one year exceed five hundred dollars.

Ibid.

213. Said commissioners shall annually, in the month of January in each year, appoint such number of supervisors of roads as they may deem necessary, and shall designate the road or roads, or parts of roads, to be under the supervision of said supervisors respectively, and shall apportion the levy for road purposes among said supervisors, and determine, when necessary, the amount thereof to be expended on each of said roads.

Ibid.

214. Said road supervisors shall give bond for the faithful performance of their duties as such, in penalties to be fixed by the county commissioners, and they shall be subject to such rules and regulations as the county commissioners shall prescribe in regard to their duties, and the manner of performing the same.
