

1870, ch 100.

192. Every commissioner so elected, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall take an oath before some justice of the peace of the county that he will diligently and faithfully, according to the best of his judgment, perform the duties of a commissioner of the said village, without favor, partiality or prejudice, and a certificate of such qualification shall be made and returned by said justice to the said commissioners, to be filed and recorded among their proceedings.

Ibid.

193. If any of the said commissioners shall die, resign or remove from said village, or be otherwise disqualified during the year for which he may be elected, an election to fill the vacancy, the time and manner of holding which shall be prescribed by the commissioners, shall be held, at which all persons qualified as hereinbefore mentioned, shall be entitled to vote.

Ibid.

194. If the inhabitants of said village shall at any time neglect to make an election at the time required by this sub-title of this article, the power of electing commissioners shall not thereupon cease, but shall continue the same as though such election had been made, and the president and commissioners for the time being, shall continue and remain in office until such election shall be held.

Ibid

195. The commissioners so elected may meet and adjourn from time to time as they may think proper, and at their first meeting, which shall be within one month after their election, shall choose from their own body a president, who shall preside at all meetings of the commissioners, vote on all questions before them, and remain in office until superseded by the appointment of a new president, after a new election of commissioners.

Ibid.

196. The said president and commissioners shall have power to pass ordinances regulating the market, the inspection, measurement and weight of all provisions, grain and wood sold in the
