

1862, ch. 151.

300. The bailiff shall give bond, to be approved by the county commissioners, as other constables, for the faithful performance of his duty as constable, and also bond to the board of commissioners for the faithful performance of his duty as bailiff, and as collector of the taxes, and for the faithful performance of such duties as shall be imposed on him by the ordinances of said board of commissioners.

Ibid.

301. The bailiff may enforce the payment of corporation taxes in the same manner and with like effect as collectors of State and county taxes may enforce the payment of the same.

Ibid.

302. The president of the commissioners and all other officers of the town, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, shall severally take the following oath: "I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of _____ to the best of my knowledge and ability, without favor, affection or partiality."

Ibid.

303. The president of the commissioners, in virtue of his office, shall have and exercise within the limits of the town, all the jurisdiction and power of a justice of the peace, except as to recovery of small debts; he may call on any officer of the village entrusted with the receipt and expenditure of public money, for a statement of his accounts as often as he shall see proper; he shall see that the ordinances are faithfully executed, and report to the board of commissioners, at their stated meetings, the general state of the village, and may call special meetings of the commissioners whenever he may see proper.

Ibid.

304. The county commissioners may, at their discretion, levy annually upon the assessable property of the county, twenty-five dollars, and pay the same over to the commissioners, to aid in keeping the streets of said village, as part of the public roads of the county, in good repair.