

1870, ch. 71.

34. Any person violating the preceding section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars or more than twenty dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding twenty days, or until the payment of said fine and costs; one-half of said fine to be paid to the county commissioners for the use of the public schools of said county, and the other half to the informer.

35. No person shall shoot, or in any manner catch, kill, or have in possession, any partridge between the first day of February, said day included, and the twentieth day of October next ensuing, in each and every year; nor any woodcock, between the first day of February and the fifteenth day of June; nor any rabbit, between the fifteenth day of January and the twentieth day of October; nor shall any person trap, destroy or molest the eggs or nests of any of the said birds at any time.

Ibid.

36. Any person who shall be convicted before a justice of the peace for said county of violating the preceding section, shall pay a fine of ten dollars for each and every partridge, woodcock or rabbit, shot or in any manner caught, killed or found in their possession; or for any partridge trapped; or for any partridge eggs or nests wilfully or maliciously molested or destroyed contrary to the preceding section; and in default of payment of the fine imposed hereunder, together with the costs, the offender shall be committed to jail for not less than five nor more than thirty days for each and every offence; and the non-payment of each and every fine shall be considered a separate offence within the meaning of the preceding section.

Ibid.

37. It shall not be lawful for any person not a bona fide resident of said county to shoot or trap any partridge, woodcock or rabbit within the limits of Dorchester county, without first having obtained from the clerk of the circuit court for said county, a license permitting the person named in such license to shoot wild game in said county, for one year from the day on which said
