

license is issued, and the person named therein, or the person procuring such license, shall pay to said clerk for such license the sum of five dollars. Four dollars and a half of said sum shall be paid by the clerk to the county commissioners for the use of the public roads of said county, and the remaining fifty cents of said sum shall go to the clerk for his fee for issuing such license; and any non-resident convicted before a justice of the peace for said county of gunning within the limits of the county aforesaid without a license so to do, shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars for each and every offence, and shall stand committed to the county jail until fine and costs are paid.

1888, ch. 29.

38. The fine which may be collected under the provisions of sections 35, 36 and 37 shall be paid by the justice of the peace to the commissioners of said county for the use of public roads of said county.

Ibid.

39. It shall be the duty of the constables of the various districts of said county to see that sections 35 and 37 are strictly enforced.

Ibid.

40. Section 37 shall not apply to non-resident land owners and their relatives, nor shall said section apply to relatives or connections by marriage of bona fide residents of said county.

CAMBRIDGE.

1882, ch. 216.

41. The inhabitants of Cambridge are a body corporate by the name of "The Commissioners of Cambridge," and as such shall have perpetual succession, and by that name may sue and be sued, purchase and hold real, personal and mixed property, or dispose of the same for the benefit of said town, and may have and use a common seal, which they may alter at pleasure.

Ibid.

42. The corporate limits of Cambridge are extended so as to be included within the following metes and bounds, courses and
