Powell v Wilson, 85 Md. 356.

1894, ch. 380, sec. 48. 1896, ch. 418.

49. It shall be unlawful, without authority from the owner, for any person or persons to take or catch planted or bedded oysters, knowing them to be so planted or bedded, or to remove, break off, destroy, or otherwise injure or alter any stakes, bounds, marks, buoys or other designation of any of said beds; any person or persons violating the provisions of this section or section 48 of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof before the circuit court or a justice of the peace for the county where the oysters were bedded, shall be liable to the fines and penalties in section 46 of this article.

Ibid sec 49.

50. Any person convicted before a justice of the peace under any of the preceding provisions of this article shall in all cases have the right of an appeal to the circuit court for the county.

Messick v. State, 82 Md. 585.

Craighill Channel.

Ibid. sec. 50

51. Any person dragging, raking or dredging for oysters within five hundred yards of either edge of the new channel at the mouth of the Patapsco river, known as the Craighill channel, extending from the seven-foot knoll to the mouth of the Magothy river, or within five hundred yards of either edge of the cut-off connecting the Brewerton and Craighill channels, shall forfeit his boat or vessel; and it shall be lawful for any justice of the peace of the county or city in which such person shall be arrested to try such person, and on conviction to condemn said boat or vessel and sell the same on five days' notice and fine the said offender a sum not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars for each and every offense; and the said justice of the peace shall pay over one-half of said fines and forfeitures to the informer and the other half to the school board of said county or city.
