

1898, ch. 206, secs. 2, 3

32. All acts or parts of acts and all sections and parts of sections of the code, both of general and local laws, now in force, inconsistent with the provisions of sections 15-31 of this sub-title are repealed; provided, nothing in said sections shall in any manner affect the public local laws for Kent, Talbot, St. Mary's, Calvert, Harford, Allegany, Somerset, Worcester, Caroline, Prince George's, Cecil, Frederick, Charles, Dorchester, Montgomery, Queen Anne's, Carroll; Washington and Wicomico counties relating to game and wild-fowl, nor the local law as it now exists in Montgomery county as to hunting and killing rabbits, but that the local laws shall remain in full force in said counties, respectively.

Baltimore Oriole Icterus.

1888, art. 99, sec. 16. 1882, ch. 154.

33. No person in this State shall shoot or in any manner catch, kill or have in possession any bird of the species known as the "Baltimore Oriole Icterus," or molest or destroy the eggs or nests of the said birds in the said State.

Ibid. sec 17. 1882, ch. 154.

34. Any person violating the preceding section shall, on conviction, pay a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty dollars for each and every bird of the species known as the "Baltimore Oriole Icterus" shot or in any manner caught, killed or in his possession, or for any eggs or nests of the said birds molested or destroyed contrary to the preceding section; said fines to be recovered before a justice of the peace of the county or Baltimore city where the offense is committed, or by indictment in the court having criminal jurisdiction in the county or Baltimore city where the offense is committed; and in default of payment of fine or fines imposed hereunder, together with the costs, the offender shall be committed to jail for not less than ten nor more than sixty days for each offense, and the non-payment of each and every fine shall be considered a separate offense within the meaning hereof; one-half of all fines imposed shall go to the informer.
