

PROPERTY OF STATE OF MARYLAND.

PREFACE.

The Code of 1904, legalized by the Act of 1904, chapter 72, contains a full and correct codification of all the Public General Laws of Maryland in force at the end of the Session of that year.

The Supplement now published contains the Public General Laws enacted at the Session of 1906, codified in appropriate articles and sections in conformity with the arrangement in the Code.

Reference to the list of Acts in the alphabetical index will readily show the articles and sections in which these acts of 1906 are codified.

Whenever it was possible to do so without creating confusion, the numbers of the sections have been preserved as given in the Acts, but changes have been made wherever necessary to keep up the continuity and numerical order of the sections as published in the Code.

Where no Code numbers or erroneous numbers are given in the Acts, the sections have been numbered so as not to disturb the existing enumeration in the several articles. Thus, where appropriate location for a new section would require it to come in between two existing sections of an article, as, for example, between sections 215 and 216, it is designated 215 A. This designation by the superaddition of A, B, C, etc., permits the new legislation to be inserted in the proper place without breaking the continuity of the numbers of the sections or dislocating the subjects.

Wherever an existing section in the Code of 1904 is repealed and re-enacted with amendments, the origin of the repealed
