

CHAPTER 349.

AN ACT to repeal sections two hundred and one, two hundred and two, two hundred and three, two hundred and four and two hundred and five, of article twenty-two, of the Code of Public Local Laws, entitled "Washington county," sub-title "Hagerstown," and to re-enact the same with amendments.

Repeal SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That sections two hundred and one, two hundred and two, two hundred and three, two hundred and four and two hundred and five, be and the same are hereby repealed and re-enacted, so as to read as follows:

Drainage. 201. The mayor and council of Hagerstown are hereby authorized and empowered to borrow a sum of money, not exceeding twenty-two thousand dollars, in addition to the sum of ten thousand dollars heretofore issued for the purpose of drainage, on the faith and credit of the town as hereinafter provided; which shall be known and designated as the drainage fund, and which shall be applied and used exclusively for the construction and improvement of the following named drains, viz: one drain known as the "Town run drain," including the north end drain to Boward's lime kiln, thirty-six hundred feet in length; one drain running from East Antietam street to connect with the town run drain on Washington street, between Mulberry street and Cannon avenue, five hundred and seventy feet in length; one drain connecting with the town run drain at the Ladle spring, and running northward to North street eighteen hundred and fifty feet in length; one drain connecting with the town run drain on the property of George W. Eierly, on East Washington street, and running westward to the alley in the rear of William Gassman's property on South Potomac street, four hundred feet in length; one drain running northward from its intersection with the town run drain on the property of John Gassman, on East Washington street, to an alley between Franklin and Church streets, six hundred feet in length; one drain running northward from its intersection with the town run drain at the Franklin house stable to the Oak spring, two hundred feet in length; one drain running westward from Franklin house stable through alley to an alley running north and south between Jonathan street and Walnut street, one thousand feet in length; one drain known as the south end drain, beginning at the alley running east and west in the rear of the court-house, and running south one hundred feet east of Potomac street, intersecting the Marsh run, four thousand feet in length; one drain connecting with the west end drain on the property of J. B. Thirston, and running northward between Walnut street and Foundry street to church street, one thousand feet in length;