

directors, and for such a length of time as they may deem advisable, and at such interest as they may name therein, and which mortgage bonds shall be liens on all the property and franchises of said company, and its tolls and revenues, after the payment of the expenses attending the collection of the same, until the principal indebtedness and the interest mentioned in said bonds shall be paid in full.

Tolls. SEC. 10. And be it enacted, That for and in consideration of the great risk and expense to be incurred by said company, not only in building said bridge, but for keeping it in repair, the said bridge when built and completed, and the lands connected with the same, and all the profits, tolls and franchises pertaining to the same shall be vested in said Berlin and Lovettsville bridge company forever, or to be held as tenants-in-common, in proportion to their respective shares; and it shall be lawful for the directors of said company, at all times hereafter, to demand and receive such reasonable tax or toll for the passage and use of said bridge, as they may from time to time fix and agree upon; and they may do all things necessary to regulate the use of said bridge, and the immediate ways thereto by the public.

Dividends. SEC. 11. And be it enacted, That the said directors shall have kept a just and true account of all money received for tax or toll for using said bridge, or which may come into their hands in any other way as said directors of said company, and all expenses incident to or expended by said company, which shall be kept at the main office of said company, and shall be open to the inspection of any stockholder of said company; and the said directors shall make and declare a dividend or dividends of the net profits and income thereof, first deducting however, in addition to costs and expenses, such proportion of said income as they may deem necessary to provide against the decay and for repairing said bridge; and all indebtedness due by said company, a notice of which dividends of the time and place the same shall be paid, shall be given the stockholders by one week's notice in a newspaper published in Frederick city.

Bond. SEC. 12. And be it enacted, That said directors shall require all officers and employees of said company, who shall have the control, care and custody of any of the funds and money of said company, or into whose hands the same, or any valuable papers or property of said company shall come or be, to give a good and sufficient bond to be approved by the president of the company, conditioned for the faithful performance of their trust, and the duties of their office or employment, and said bond shall be liable for the faithful performance of their duties, and for such sums of money, not exceeding the penalty of said bond, as shall come into the care and custody or hands of said officer or employee executing the same, and said company is hereby authorized to bring suit upon
