

judgment become dangerous; they may pass ordinances to cause the streets, lanes and alleys to be paved, graded, repaired, repaved, regraded, drained or sewerred; they may erect or establish houses of correction, hospitals, or pest houses, within or without the city, if necessary, and pass ordinances for the government of the same; they may pass all such ordinances as they may deem necessary for the protection and preservation of any of the city's property rights and privileges; they may direct in what part of the city buildings of wood shall not be erected; they may erect and establish market houses, and regulate markets, and pass ordinances for regulating the sale of meats, vegetables, fruits, butter, eggs and poultry therein, and confine the sales thereof in said city to the limits of the market places during the hours of market, and may require a license therefor from each vendor, but such ordinances shall not apply to licensed dealers in such fruits, vegetables, butter, eggs and poultry, occupying regular places of business in said city, unless they offer their goods also in the market space, nor to persons offering for sale products of their own farms or garden to customers, whether private citizens or licensed dealers, unless they do so in the market space, which market space shall include the market house and streets bounding the same, and said mayor and city council shall not impose any restraint or hindrance upon the sale of such vegetables, fruits, butter, eggs, poultry or country produce by persons raising or producing the same; but if such person shall desire to sell the same in the market space, may require from them a license or fee for the privilege of so doing; they may require a license from all persons owning and keeping for public hire drays, wagons or other vehicles for transporting goods or passengers in said city, and may require that all such drays, wagons or other vehicles shall be numbered to correspond with the number upon the license issued to it in pursuance of this authority; they may prevent the storage of gunpowder or other combustible matter in such quantities or place within the city as they may deem dangerous; pass all ordinance to provide for regulating pawnbrokers, peddlers of nostrums, notions, patents, secret or pretended inventions and remedies on the streets, lanes, alleys or sidewalks of the city, and for licensing commercial travelers and retail dealers, non-residents of the city, auction, bargain and bankrupt sales and all other kind of business or commercial ventures to be carried on for a shorter period than one year, and pass all such ordinances as may be necessary to establish, maintain, govern and control a paid fire department in the city; pass all such ordinances in addition to those already existing,

Licenses