Census Report proclaims Maryland has retrograded $15,000,000, thereby increasing the city and State's floating and bonded indebtedness, preventing capital and manufacturing industries from coming to a retrogressive rather than a progressive State. Had that bill been put in force to-day, Maryland, instead of receiving such a crushing blow, would have proudly proclaimed with her 41 sister States her progressive position. The millions of hidden wealth not only escaped, but the readjustment of values on real estate was prevented. Give us that at least which will add millions of real estate to the assessable list, for since the last general assessment 16 years ago we have had a chaos of confusion.
