

Also, it will be reassuring to the people if their own citizens of business experience and professional judgment are called into service by the Government to a greater extent than ever before in the period of reconstruction.

The problems will be many, and grave, make no mistake about it. But Maryland will be as prepared to meet them as the best abilities of our people can provide.