

Examination continued:—I have the will of Morris McDonough in my possession. It was filed in the office of the Register of Wills of Charles County, February 14th, 1804, (will produced and read.) (Chapter 134, Act passed January 20th, 1808, entitled “an Act to vest certain powers in the Orphans’ Court of Charles County, and for other purposes,” read.)

Examination continued:—“I have examined the records in my office, and find that no reports have been made by the Trustees of the fund for 20 years past. I have no idea what was the amount of the original fund; I understand that many losses have been sustained by bad investments. There is now about $9,000 on hand, it is good hands, although the children, for whom it was intended, have received for many years no benefit from it. When I was a lad, at Primary School, the teacher received some additional compensation from this fund. The grave of Morris McDonough is kept in a lamentable condition.”

Adjourned.

Which was read.

Mr. Lancaster moved to substitute the minority report of said Committee for the report of the majority.

Which was determined in the negative by yeas and nays as follows:
