

1, 1926, for which he was entitled to membership credit in the system from which he is transferring if such credit is greater.

27. Upon becoming a member of the retirement system to which he has transferred, such person shall thereafter pay the rate of contribution applicable to a new entrant at his attained age and be eligible for such pension and annuity as is provided by law in such retirement system, including the credits for previous service in the retirement system from which he has transferred as provided in Section 26 of this sub-title, with the condition, however, that if he retires on a retirement allowance in the system to which he transferred within five years after the transfer, the benefits payable with respect to the service credit in the system from which the transfer was made shall not be greater than those which would have been payable with respect to such service, had he remained in such system.

28. Notwithstanding anything in Sections 25 and 26 of this sub-title to the contrary, a member of one of such retirement systems on June 1, 1947, who was a member of another such system immediately prior to entering his present system may now effect such a transfer provided he deposits the amount of the contributions paid or payable to him from such other retirement system prior to the expiration of one year following June 1, 1947, and within five years of the date as of which such contributions first became payable to him from such other retirement system. To qualify under the terms and conditions of this Section, such members shall exhibit such data and information to the administrative head of the system to which he has transferred as may be required by the rules and regulations of said system or the administrative head thereof.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That this Act shall take effect June 1, 1947.

Approved April 25, 1947.
