Fitzjarrell,

So the amendment to exempt Washington county,
Was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Rusk,

The further consideration of the bill, together with pending amendments,

Was postponed, and said bill referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Donaldson submitted the following order :

WHEREAS, A House bill which had passed both Houses and been returned to this House for enrollment, has been abstracted from the desk of the Clerk of this House,

And whereas, It is said that in former Sessions the abstraction of bills at their different stages, has been of only too common occurrence.

And whereas, It is of the greatest importance to end the possibility of such an evil,

Ordered, That the Clerk of this House is hereby authorized and directed to procure under the supervision of the Chairman of the Committee on Claims, for the custody of bills before this House, a fire and burglar proof safe, the amount to be paid for the same to be approved by the Committee on claims; the Chairman of the House Committee on Claims is hereby authorized to draw his check upon the Comptroller for the amount necessary.

And be it further ordered, That no one but the Chief Clerk of this House and the Speaker shall have access to the interior of such safe, unless by order under the hand of the Speaker; the safe to be here by Monday.

Which was read.
