

1 to take this out of the appointive power of the governor
2 so that the judges who actually would work with them and 3 know what they are doing or not doing can remove them.

4 JUDGE FAIRBANKS: Mr. Eney, in answer to your 5 proposition to me, I don't see any reason why the system
6 you suggest isn't a good one. The only thing is we have 7 got several large metropolitan counties in the City of 8 Baltimore. I don't think one administrative judge neces-
9 sarily is going to be able to keep his finger on that 10 plus twenty or sixteen or eighteen, or whatever the number 11 is in other counties. I think, therefore, you would 12 have to have someone in each of the larger areas who 13 would be responsible.

14 MR. ENEY: Section 7, on Page 7. Refer to 15 that.

16 MRS. BOTHE: We are only talking about what 17 needs to go into the Constitution.

18 MR. MARTINEAU: We provide in 7 and 8 that the 19 court can adopt rules for the operation of the judicial 20 system and that the chief justice is the administrative 21 head and working through the chief judges, has control
