

1 that you can have him subject to election on exactly the 2 same basis as any other judge. Since I have seen these 3 proposals only very recently and have not been able to 4 devote as much time since I saw them to study that ques-
5 tion, I am not sure which method is the better, but it
6 does seem to me very definite that you are creating what 7 is really a career position and that you ought to have a
8 career man for that and not have him engage in the trial
9 of cases on the side, and when he can find time to do 10 it.

11 I imagine that most judges would prefer to 12 do what they consider strictly judicial work, trying 13 cases and there will always be some pull as to the admin-
14 istrative side and judicial side if you pick a man who is 15 a judge of the Circuit Court and ask him to be an admin-
16 istrative judge.

17 I suggest that to you very earnestly as an im-
18 provement in what I consider on the whole an excellent
19 scheme, which the Committee has proposed for the Judicial 20 Article.

21 THE CHAIRMAN: Judge, just about what you
