2 there. This is education. So is the system of State
3 colleges, of which Morgan will be a part, I guess, one of 4 these fine days.

5 MR. RAVER: They are a part of the State col-
6 lege system.

7 THE CHAIRMAN: It is not a full partner yet,
8 is it?

9 DR. JENKINS: Let's say it is not under the 10 purview of the State.

11 THE CHAIRMAN: That is right. Wouldn't it be 12 perfectly logical for them to have the same kind of 13 autonomy?

14 MR. RAVER: I think so. I cannot see the 15 reason for -- in other words, I don't buy the University
16 of Maryland's point of view that they alone should have 17 this great independence because of research, et cetera. I
18 taught in college. That is where my teaching experience
19 was. Somehow or another I can't see there is this great
20 need for independence on the part of the University any 21 more than Morgan and State College.
