

1 series of attorney generals' opinions which are detailed
2 in the records of the Committee's report, which indicates
3 that the Governor does have complete discretion over
4 certain items.

5 Now, my question is directed to this point,
6 that the language of the Constitution is somewhat am-
7 biguous. It requires attorney generals' rulings. It 8 is still in certain areas unclear, and my thought is 9 that if the Committee wanted to make or had in mind a 10 recommendation which would at least make definitive
11 the present practice, this might be a contribution.
12 It is merely a suggestion.

13 MR. ENEY: This is the thing that was 14 troubling me. When you say present practice, you mean 15 the present practice with respect to State aid?

16 MR. CASE: Yes.

17 MR. ENEY: Limited to that?

18 MR. CASE: Yes.

19 MR. ENEY: Suppose the legislature ten years
20 from now wanted to provide a different system of aid 21 to public schools. Wouldn't you want that covered by
