

1 should be treated as are all other departments of the 2 government under the executive branch.

3 Some of the other Committee members or Mr.
4 Eney may want to elaborate on that, but I think this 5 is really basically the heart of the matter, and that 6 is where the distinction is found in the Constitution
7 and that is where the power lies. I think we would 8 want some comments on the philosophy of whether or not 9 it is desirable to have in Maryland an independent
10 educational system from the executive branch.

11 MR. ENEY: I am very anxious to have your 12 comments on this, Dr. Sensenbaugh, in the record, not 13 merely for the information of this Committee and of the 14 Commission, because ultimately it is going to be pre-
15 sented to the Constitutional Convention. So, it is a 16 very important matter.

17 DR. SENSENBAUGH: Well, let me begin first 18 by saying when you take the Federal Government and the 19 relationship of education at a national level, to me,
20 I think this has some problems.

21 You just look at the chief, the head, the
