

1 They elect their boards. They have the taxing authority.
2 They levy their own taxes for the support of their
3 schools. I don't know of any state that does this, at 4 the state level.

5 MR. ENEY: Well, this was quite common some
6 years back, was it not?

7 DR. SENSENBAUGH: Yes, and it is still quite
8 prevalent in some areas. I think there is a tendency
9 to have elected board members in the smaller school
10 districts, where people know each other more so than 11 they do over a large area.

12 If you look at your big cities, and I have 13 a feeling, now, this is just an impression, that most 14 of the big cities do not elect their board members;
15 although, this is not true in Boston. I know Boston
16 does elect their board members.

17 MR. ENEY: Dr. Sensenbaugh, I would like to 18 ask you this, and it comes back to what you were saying
19 before, but I would like to get a little more specific,
20 by statute, now, not by the Constitution.
