

1 up to sixteen at compulsory attendance. They are
2 talking now about eighteen, and I just wondered whether
3 we couldn't dress up that language a little bit and
4 not call them children.

5 MRS. BOTHE: You are speaking now of our
6 proposed Section 1?

7 DR. SENSENBAUGH: Yes.

8 MR. ENEY: Persons, instead of children?

9 DR. SENSENBAUGH: Because a young man eighteen,
10 who is subject to the draft, may not want to be referred 11 to as a child.

12 MRS. BOTHE: We thought of that and one of
13 the reasons we left it that way was because Section 1
14 does deal with the elementary school system and deals
15 with minors, and some state constitutions give specific
16 aid, say up to the age of eighteen, and we didn't want
17 to do that in the expectation that perhaps the com-
18 pulsory age would be upgraded and someday we expect
19 there will be a kindergarten throughout the State.
20 Have you any suggestions?

21 DR. SENSENBAUGH: I think that Mr. Eney had
