

1 the better term, persons or youth, because we will, I
2 suppose, soon have an eighteen-year-old compulsory
3 attendance age.

4 MRS. BOTHE: It is rather light not to call
5 them persons.

6 MR. ENEY: That's rather cold.

7 MRS. BOTHE: Not very young and sweet.

8 DR. SENSENBAUGH: It is just semantics, and 9 I thought -- it struck me when I read it. If there
10 are no other questions from our part, I want to express
11 our appreciation for allowing us to be here. If there 12 is any information you want us to run down, like some 13 of this general impression, maybe I can document it,
14 Mr. Eney, some of the specifics you asked me and caught
15 me cold.

16 MR. ENEY: If you have any ideas, it would 17 be very helpful if you would write to the Executive 18 Director and, I suppose, to Mrs. Bothe and the Executive 19 Director, but it is one of the very important things
20 being considered and we would like to have your views.

21 DR. SENSENBAUGH: I can see that during a
