

1 State monies shall be paid directly to the Treasurer.

2 MR. NOSSEL: Yes.

3 THE CHAIRMAN: Is this an important thing?
4 Should that be continued?

5 MR. SAYRE: Constitutionally, you mean?

6 THE CHAIRMAN: Constitutionally, right.

7 MR. NOSSEL: I think you have to be a little
8 careful there. I am not familiar with the present
9 language particularly. If it is interpreted as meaning
10 that it can be collected at the appropriate time and
11 place, and deposited in the Treasury, this is all right.
12 This is good. It is workable. But if the language is 13 such that it would be interpreted as saying that it
14 actually has to be paid by the taxpayer, or the payer of 15 the fee directly to the Treasurer, then it is not good.

16 THE CHAIRMAN: What it says is, the Treasurer --

17 MR. NOSSEL: Speaking of new language. I
18 know the present one is all right.

19 THE CHAIRMAN: -- shall receive the monies of
20 the State until otherwise prescribed by law, deposit
21 them as soon as received to the credit of the State, in
