Would this be a possibility, a ten-minute break, no more, and come back and we will pursue it further with these two people and, somewhere close to 2:00, take stock as to when we will meet, as I'm sure we will have to, for a continuation sometime next week in order that we would be prepared on the items below that line that I have drawn, with our recommendations at least in first draft for the Commission as a whole. Would that be all right?

MR. ENEY: Dr. Bard, I have no idea how the other members feel. You say some have 2 o'clock engagements. You might put in the alternative, as to whether any of them would rather go to 2:00 and then take a break.

(Discussion held off the record.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All right, we will now move to Mr. Kentner who is going to give us his own observations. Most of you know Mr. Kentner has lived in Nebraska and the material which you received gave you some background on his work. We certainly appreciate the fact that he has left his offices in Washington to spend this time with us.
