

1 from a single district?

2 MR. KENTNER: Yes.

3 MR. SCANLAN: And if you could have a uni-
4 cameral legislature with multi-member districts, you
5 would have the same problem of knowing more than one.

6 MR. KENTNER: This could be true.

7 DR. WINSLOW: Except that the tendency in
8 unicameralism is to have a smaller numeral total of 9 legislators.

10 MR. SCANLAN: You wouldn't have a senate.

11 DR. WINSLOW: And the house in Nebraska has 12 been reduced in size. So, instead of having -- what is 13 it -- 142, we have in Nebraska 43, which makes the differ-
14 ence in the total number of districts we have to have or 15 the total number of people in an elective district. If 16 you divided Maryland up into 43 districts, you would have
17 a different situation.

18 MR. SCANLAN: We could do it very simply.
19 Let's have a 42-member Senate and eliminate the House
20 of Delegates.

21 DR. WINSLOW: I go along with that.
