be enumerated in the Constitution; and also self-enforcing clauses and effect on small counties.

That gets further into detail, after you have gotten together some of the information. It seems to me that is moving in the direction of our particular responsibility because we certainly will have to -- we have already determined by agreement of the Committee that we will provide for compulsory home rule insofar as the governmental local subdivisions are concerned, both county and city. We have also decided that insofar as the agreed upon form of the local subdivision, it will be the county and the city and other civil divisions.

Now then, as we move on more specifically, we've got to really see what other localities and governmental units have done by way of what they have accomplished and we are going to have to make a choice between either a self-enforcing clause or a voluntary one and, there again, I think we all feel that we've got to have some further research and detailed knowledge.

Dr. Loavy, this is a little bit in your direction here, because of some of the specific items that are
