

1 number of state constitutions that include phrases or 2 clauses, and even in the case of, I think it is Missouri

3 THE CHAIRLADY: Massachusetts, with regard
4 to Harvard.

5 DR. BARD: Well, Massachusetts has a large
6 description as to the role of Harvard, et cetera, and 7 Missouri actually goes into the community college law
8 of Missouri at this time, and that is a fairly recent 9 one. Would you include in the Constitution any state-
10 ment with respect to higher education?

11 DR. PULLEN: I thought I touched on that,
12 Dr. Bard. Yes, I would. I don't know exactly how I 13 would write it, but I should certainly provide for the 14 establishment, the proper conduct of and so on. Then 15 I would write in there a provision -- I think this is a 16 general provision with respect to education, but it cuts
17 across all government -- that no function of government
18 shall be denied to any individual, to any qualified
19 individual for any reason whatsoever.

20 I am trying to get the point over here that 21 in Maryland we are denying higher education to people
