

1 Maryland, was this not resolved with your approval,
2 cooperation and perhaps it might have originated in 3 the office of the Superintendent?

4 DR. PULLEN: That was done before, with 5 Governor Ritchie and Mr. Cook and other people in the 6 State, and it started with, and it started 100 years
7 ago with Dr. VanBockler and Horace Manns, but it was 8 written into law in 1922; but Dr. Goodnough who was the 9 chairman of the commission who wrote the school laws of 10 Maryland, which are considered as one of the finest in 11 the country, spelled out the protection against the 12 manipulation of that by anyone.

13 Let's go back to government again. I agree
14 with Thomas Jefferson when he said that all government
15 must be founded upon suspicion. Everybody, statesmen,
16 every individual elected or appointed in the public 17 schools should be under suspicion by the people who put 18 them there. That is, I think, a truism, almost, in 19 government, not predicated upon trust, but predicated
20 upon suspicion that the frailties of human nature may 21 cause him to do things that are not in the interest of
