

1 equally qualified, one who can pay the price and one
2 who can't, when they are getting public subsidy and they 3 are also getting subsidy from corporations, tax exempt,
4 which is another thing of public support.

5 I just hate to see people denied an education
6 because they can't pay for it. Does that answer your 7 question?

8 MR. ENEY: Not exactly, but --

9 DR. PULLEN: Let's pin it down.

10 MR. ENEY: I think you indicated your views
11 on it enough for my purposes.

12 DR. PULLEN: Let me talk about standards.
13 Let me tell you two stories. The University of California 14 has set up a system whereby it takes only the upper 15 12½ per cent of its students and yet, its mortality,
16 three or four years ago, according to an official docu-
17 ment made by a University of Maryland professor, forty-
18 five per cent -- I sat in a meeting in the Edison
19 Institute in New York three or four years ago, in which 20 the head of a college stated that his institution, in 21 order to control the situation, they were going to raise
