

1 somewhat separated behind an ivory tower, if you will,
2 this is becoming so much lessened in time and the terms
3 of one knowing the other and the dispersible knowledge.
4 Where you are creating new facts, you run much more
5 frequently into this desire to control the destiny of 6 the institution, if these facts aren't in conformity
7 with the general present opinion. Obviously, of course,
8 we're in very, very heavy research activity. More than 9 other institutions.

10 THE CHAIRLADY: Our stenographer needs a
11 two-minute break and perhaps other people do, as well.

12 (At this point there was a short recess.)

13 THE CHAIRLADY: All right, Dr. Kuhn.

14 DR. KUHN: The Chairlady said perhaps if I
15 start talking, everybody might sit down.

16 MR. ENEY: Dr. Kuhn, I would like to ask you
17 some questions in three areas, and these may be matters
18 that you would prefer not to comment on now and include
19 in the position paper which you referred to, which I
20 hope will be very complete.

21 One of the things was a matter that you were
