

1 black eye of the University of California in Berkeley
2 last year -- but there has been no institution in this 3 country that has made the progress, that had made the 4 contribution to our defense during the war years, that 5 has more Nobel Prize winners, than the University of 6 California. This is not just autonomy. This is govern-
7 mental support of higher education.

8 MRS. FREEDLANDER: I'm a member of the 9 Declaration of Rights Committee and would like to take 10 advantage of your being here to ask a question. Although 11 you indicated that academic freedom has a self-policing
12 aspect because of the accreditation of institutions, 13 would you conceive of having such a provision in the 14 Declaration of Rights to protect all institutions, 15 including public schools and the like, because every 16 once in a while righteous groups get up their dander and 17 say what books should be used in schools and what 18 teachers should or should not teach?

19 Do you believe that there is a place in the 20 Declaration of Rights for a general provision on academic 21 freedom?
