

1 THE CHAIRMAN: Actually, does that make too
2 much difference, really?

3 MR. RATCHFORD: I don't think a name makes too
4 much difference, where you can slide them into some type
5 of agreement.

6 THE CHAIRMAN: It gives a degree of satis-
7 faction to the writers to have a consistency of nomencla-
8 ture, but whether or not it really makes a difference 9 insofar as a way of living which, after all is said and 10 done, is the whole purpose of a governmental setup seems 11 to me to be --

12 DR. LOEVY: But we have to study it, though,
13 since Baltimore City does have all these independent pro-
14 visions. In rewriting the Constitution, I don't think we 15 want to rewrite all of these various independent pro-
16 visions.

17 THE CHAIRMAN: I think that is part of the 18 scope of the study we are contemplating here.

19 MR. RATCHFORD: Of course, some of the pro-
20 visions in the City may be well not in the Constitution,
21 such as offstreet parking, which is absurd to have in a
