

ay Budget Bureau, I'm not talking about talking about Mr. Perkins who is going to be the younger budget analyst, and the Commission may decide that this in terms of this should be done, the budget officer should do this. I am not asking you to comment on this part of this problem of autonomy I

BER: I would like to comment on it. In the area. I have been investigating budget working life and I think this is a real question when I first went to New York as Budget Examiner and I was handling the Health Department and had as the Commissioner in that department one of the most outstanding people we know, Dr. Herman Hilobough, who is involved in this question with him. I said, why a person out of college be telling you how to do it. You're the guy who ought to be telling me how to be deciding how this money be spent, and
