

1 DR. SENSENBAUGH: So it won't become a deficit
2 for the next year.

3 THE CHAIRMAN: That's the whole point. Since
4 you've gotten this new formula, really, this constitutional
5 provision, I just don't see how it helps you.

6 DR. SENSENBAUGH: I'm not quite as confident as 7 you are on this, for the reason we have a man like Donaho
8 who is sitting there who wouldn't --

9 MR. DONAHO: You mean somebody who is willing 10 to think. You are afraid of the people who are willing to 11 think, as opposed to rubber stamps.

12 THE CHAIRMAN: Let's put the large size horns
13 on him and think of him in terms of that for this minute.
14 I ask this question, what can he do? He can talk and make 15 a very interesting presentation, but what can he do?
16 You two fellows are across the table. What can he do?

17 DR. SENSENBAUGH: Suppose he is in the legislature
18 and he had the majority of them like him and they decided,
19 well, even though the formula is there, we're only going 20 to provide appropriations for, say seventy-five per cent
21 of what we should get by the formula. Then what do we do?
