

1 and this doesn't quite recognize it.

2 Now, in number eight, I think the problem which 3 we talked about doesn't quite emphasize the word complete
4 enough. I think that should perhaps might be modified
5 or at least it needs an alternative, and the alternative 6 we are talking about is extensive because there are many 7 alternatives. If you're going to say the answer here is 8 yes or no, then your no is they do not have complete, but 9 what do they have? None? Well, I don't think we mean
10 that. It ought to be spelled out a little bit to indi-
11 cate the degree of extensiveness.

12 In nine, I think the problem word is enumerate.
13 I don't think the problem is with the word ripper. I
14 think it is enumerated. We have to face with the Com-
15 mission the question of whether enumeration is a limita-
16 tion or whether we can find such broad language where we 17 could leave flexibility and still set some standards, with-18 out trying to enumerate it. I don't know the answer to 19 that, either.

20 That is really all I have to say.

21 THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you very much, Dr.
