

tween the first day of November and the fifteenth day of the following January; quail and partridges, between the twentieth day of October and the twenty-fifth day of December; but it shall not be lawful to use ferrets to hunt or kill rabbits at any time.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That it shall not be lawful to sell, or attempt to sell, any pheasants, partridges, wild turkeys, deer, squirrels or rabbits, at any season of the year, that may have been shot, killed or entrapped in Washington county; nor shall it be lawful for any one to ship, for the purpose of selling elsewhere, any pheasant, partridge, wild turkey, deer, squirrel or rabbit.

Unlawful to sell.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That the possession, by any person within the said county, of any woodcock, pheasant, partridge, wild turkey, dove, deer or fawn, killed out of season, as provided in section one of this act, or the possession, by any express or transportation company, of such birds or game out of season, shall be prima facie evidence to convict under this act.

What constitutes prima facie evidence.

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That any person offending against any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, before a justice of the peace of said county, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars, and upon failure to pay the same shall be committed to jail for not less than ten nor more than twenty days; one-half of said fine to go to the informer, and the other half to the school fund of the county; provided that the party charged shall be entitled to demand a jury trial before the case is heard by the justice of the peace, and upon such demand shall be recognized to appear at the next term of the circuit court.

Penalty for violation.

SEC. 5. And be it enacted, That all laws or parts of laws inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Inconsistencies repealed.

Approved March 27, 1884.