

tion, to the Judges of Election of each ward, at the respective polling-places; before any ballot shall be received, the ballot boxes shall be inspected by the Judges of Election in the presence of any persons who may choose to attend, and placed in a conspicuous position in full view of persons outside the polling-place and not moved, and not unlocked until after the election is over and the votes are to be counted.

Power of Judges.

SEC. 11. And be it enacted, That the said Judges of Election shall have power to examine under oath, to be administered by them, any person offering to vote at any such election, touching his qualifications and right to vote; but before such examination, it shall be their duty to take from him the ballot which he shall tender, and in case of the rejection of the said ballot, they shall not put said ballot in the ballot box, but preserve it and all other rejected ballots and return them with the names and residences of the persons offering them, endorsed on the back thereof, in a sealed package to the President of the managing convention, to be kept by him in the same manner as legal ballots are hereinafter required to be kept.

Ballots.

SEC. 12. And be it enacted, That every voter shall deliver to the Judge or Judges of Election of the ward in which he offers to vote, a ballot on which shall be written or printed the name or names of the person or persons voted for, and the position for which the vote is given plainly designated, and the ballots so delivered to and received by the Judges of Election, shall be deposited in the ballot box until the poll is closed.

Duty of Clerks.

SEC. 13. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the said Clerks of Election to enter the name and residence of each person who casts a vote at said election plainly in the poll-
