

1 DR. BARD: I would just like to explain the 2 fact that in general I am in agreement with Mr. Case
3 that where the language of the Constitution, the present
4 language of the Constitution states clearly the concept
5 that the Committee is attempting to set forth, then I
6 think it is better to use the language of the Constitu-
7 tion. In this case, I believe that it embraces more than 8 language. It defines ideas and for this reason, I believe 9 that the wording as stated here is superior to the word-
10 ing as it is noted, the ideas are more clear.

11 THE CHAIRMAN: All right, you ready? Mr. Case?

12 MR. CASE: So you can be definitive, what I
13 would have in mind if this word, referred, would be then 14 appearing in the discussion, the people have the right 15 peaceably to assemble and petition each branch of the 16 Government for the redress of grievances, and then come 17 in to the second sentence that, every citizen shall be 18 allowed to speak, write, and publish his sentiments on 19 all subjects being responsible for the abuse of that 20 privilege.

21 MR. MILLER: You wouldn't want to change, each,
