

1 there is further changes on the part of the court deci-
2 sions, that as long as it doesn't prevent our having this 3 strong measure, I think we should have it.

4 THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Miller?

5 MR. MILLER: Mr. Chairman, if I understand
6 Mr. Sayre's suggestion, from a practical standpoint, 7 wouldn't it hopelessly impede the protection of the 8 community by police forces? They would have no way of 9 legally doing things that the criminal element can and 10 does do? Enemy agents couldn't be intercepted. If we 11 were prevented from obtaining a warrant for probable
12 cause, it seems to me almost a practical necessity in this 13 modern age to not tie their hands. It is like putting 14 in the Constitution that no policeman can carry a pistol.

15 DR. JENKINS: Mr. Sayre, the model code has 16 this protection. I am wondering if you purposely left 17 this out. It has, But upon probable cause supported by 18 oath or affirmation that evidence of crime may be thus 19 obtained.

20 MR. SAYRE: That was purposely left out. Let 21 me put it this way: If we can't have this strong measure
