

1 legislative proposal to be adopted by either three-fifths
2 or two-thirds without getting into that, in the first
3 instance to override what the Governor has proposed, and then
4 you wouldn't get involved in the problem of coming back
5 later on and having the Legislature override a possible
6 gubernatorial veto.

7 To satisfy both here and not waste any time
8 in getting this plan either adopted or not adopted
9 by the Legislature, to require that the plan be adopted
10 by a higher vote and not of it subject to veto.

11 DR. BARD: That is okay.

12 THE CHAIRMAN: Any further discussion?

13 JUDGE ADKINS: It prevents legislative re-
14 finements on what might otherwise become a good plan.
15 It becomes on a take-it-and-leave-it basis. I think the 16 Governor ought to have the veto, but the Legislature
17 ought to have the right of amendment.

18 THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Miller?

19 MR. MILLER: The only thought I have, Mr. Chair-
20 man, is that if we did have laws passed by some peculiar 21 device which indicates passing up the veto in certain
