

1 that context, in that context and in that setting
2 Section 34 came along to prevent that type of thing. Now, 3 we have gotten into a much more sophisticated time and 4 people who are interested in the State and who want to 5 know what the basic requirements are look at a piece of 6 paper, namely the Constitution. If they look at this,
7 which I hold in my hand, which is old 34, it means nothing
8 but a bunch of hogwash. The Section we are suggesting 9 is a meaningful, clearcut draft of powers.

10 THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Sykes?

11 MR. SYKES: Mr. Chairman, I am concerned with 12 the point Dr. Winslow and Congressman Miller raise.
13 One problem with the language as it is suggested is that 14 there is no restrictive word, like only in it, even if you 15 accept the affirmative method of statement, and I would 16 think that it should read at the very least that the State
17 shall have power to incur indebtedness only for public
18 purpose and in such manner and upon such terms, et cetera,
19 as the General Assembly may direct.

20 MR. CASE: That wouldn't add anything. It says,
21 for any public purpose. If it is for any public purpose,
