

1 therefore say that the one court throughout the State
2 will have varying jurisdiction.

3 MR. BOND: I don't believe I'm disagreeing
4 with Mr. Rodowsky or Mr. Sykes. I don't object to a
5 uniform minimum jurisdiction throughout the State, but 6 when the language says the jurisdiction of the District
7 Court shall be uniform throughout the State, I ask them
8 to tell me how it could be concurrent jurisdiction, where 9 concurrent jurisdiction is desired by the people and by 10 the lawyer?

11 THE CHAIRMAN: I don't think Mr. Sykes suggested 12 the
13 that /concurrent jurisdiction limits would not be uniform,
14 Mr. Bond.

15 MR. SYKES: I didn't. I suggested that the 16 concurrent jurisdiction limit should be uniform and that 17 wouldn't hamper the plaintiff or the defendant in the 18 choice of court.

19 MR. CASE: I just want to correct Larry Rodowsky's 20 statement, because so long as original jurisdiction is 21 uniform, then the jurisdiction of the other court, the Superior Court necessarily is uniform, and I'm not arguing
