

1 and powers, as well as to the matter of sharing costs and 2 is somewhat more comprehensive than in the intergovernmental
3 relations Article, Subsection (3), as set forth on Page 28.

4 THE CHAIRMAN: Isn't 12.01, Paragraph (2)
5 dealing with functions and powers?

6 MR. CLAGETT: Well, it does do so, Mr. Chairman,
7 but it does not make the specific provision for agreement
8 or contract. It may be implied and certainly by saying 9 nothing prohibits, the implication may be there, but we 10 are specifically providing for it in Subsection (d), be-11 cause we do feel it is a very important means by which 12 metropolitan problems can be solved by the units that are 13 affected and dealing with them.

14 THE CHAIRMAN: It seems to me, as a matter of 15 technique of drafting, we certainly don't want both (d)
16 and 12.01. They overlap almost precisely, and the dif-
17 ferences are only differences that would cause trouble.
18 If the concept of (d) is a little different from the con-19 cept of 12.01, it seems to me it should be accomplished by 20 amending 12.01, but not by leaving both provisions in.

21 MR. CLAGETT: I point out this, that with
