

1 feel that it is urgent that their views be expressed.
2 I would hope this was not simply because I hope that the 3 Report itself, regardless of the recommendation made in 4 the Report on particular issues, would state the pros and 5 cons to the extent that it is possible to do so fully,
6 so that the views of dissenting Members would appear,
7 perhaps not labeled with their names but appear in the 8 statement of the pros and cons on the question.

9 This also becomes a question of mechanics and 10 situations. A little over a year ago when John and I
11 first tried to make up a budget for the Commission, we 12 had nothing to go by, and in estimating an item for print-
13 ing of the Report, we estimated that the Report would be 14 about 150 pages, and frankly, this was a figure that 15 was almost just picked out of the air. It was based on 16 some experience that I had had on other commissions and 17 some review of reports of other commissions, but since 18 we had no report of a commission like this to go by,
19 and since the nature of our Report has sort of evolved
20 in our own thinking over the past year, the estimate wasn't 21 very accurate. As of the present time, it seems to me
